whether war shall be proclaimed or not, the maintenance of the family falls largely upon the women, in times of war. Women suffer in war as well as in pence, for that matter, from the reduction in wages and the increased tixes, due to the cost of armies and navies.

"From 1897 to 1904, the United States Spent $307,000,000 for military purposes. An expenditure of $200,000,000 for now considered 'normal' so great has been the increase during the last few years. Yet when a bill was recently passed by Congress providing for the investigation of conditions of industry under which women and children in our country work, the clause providing for an appropriation for the task was deliberately stricken out, this making the entire bill practically worthless.

"Hence it seems that our land has fallen behind in the advance toward industrial harmony, and industrial prosperity and harmony are the mightlest impulses making for perpetual peace. This country, which planned the first international Peace Congress, and which led the world in organized work for peace, has left to other hands the consummation of the work. Can we not return to our place in the forefront of the mighty struggle—the great war of peace!"

Mr. Bryan said his sole desire was that the Democratis party should enter the next campaign with the strongest Democrate strength it could find, in order to be a candidate for any office, as there was joy enough for him in private life, provided he could get his ideas put into operation.

When I see so many Democratic principles put in operation by a Republican President," he said, "I can imagine what joy it would be to have those principles carried out by a Democratic President, At some time in the future I shall decide what my place is to be in the next campaign. But I want to say it will take the rest of my life to get even with the people of this country for the favors I have already received."

Mr. Bryan's oratory often brought his hearers to their feet with exclamations of approval and shouts of applause. More especially when he enuciated the words:

It is alleged that the company for four years has sequestered millions of dollars worth of valuable property from tax duplicates. It is estimated by the officials that the Standard Oll Company should be paying taxes on $40,000,000 worth of property, when it is assessed on the tax duplicantes for only $3,000,000. The Standard has been paying $50,000, when it should have paid ten times that amount, the tax officers claim,

A FIRM BELIEVER IN CUTICURA REMEDIES

"I enlisted in the Corps of Engineers as a telegraph operator, and, while stationed in the Philippines, I became subject to the "Doble Itch," as the natives call it. In this disease small, white, Itching pimples form under the skin, generally between the toes, on the limbs, between the fingers, and under the arms. I never knew of a case originating outside the Philippine Islands, but have known of many cases where it has returned in this country and invariably at the same time of the year as the original attack. The cause, so far as I could learn, was some tropical parasite or germ peculiar to that region.

"I got so bad that I was confined to my quarters a week at a time. The Army Surgeons applied some carbolic solution, and it would disappear for a time when it would break out again. I was discharged from the Engineers by reason of disability contracted in line of duty, and when I had the trouble again, my druggist, Mr. Z-, of Brooklyn, recommended Cutieura Remedies. The immediate relief was manifest with my first purchase, and the malady quickly yielded to the Remedies. It has never recurred or bothered me since I began to use and continued to use the Cuticura Remedies. You may quote me as a believer in Cuticura Remedies from personal experience. John S. Secretary Wilson Warns Manufacturers of Food Products Agair Deception.

WHAT SENIAL NUMBER MEANS

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 16 .- "Is this outrageous misrepresentation does not cease, the department will publish a who are indulging in this campaign of deception."

This remark was uttered by Secretary Wilson, of the Department of Agriculture, in the authorized statement to-day, and was brought forth by the fact that there had come to his knowledge informathat the United States government was suaranteeing their products. The Secreunar the United States government was guaranteeing their products. The Secretary said that the serial number and guaranty required by the pure food and drug act to be placed on food and drug products were being used by these manufacturers for this purpose.

"The serial number." said Secretary Wilson, "is assigned to fix the responsibility where it belongs, upon the manufacturer, and to protect innocent dealers, who have a right, under the law, to rely upon his guaranty. It is the guarantee of the manufacturers, not the guarantee of the government."

The secretary declared that every effort will be made by the department to put a stop to these statements. "I will do a little advertising myself," he said, "in behalf of the people. I am growing tired of seeing these untruthful statements on the advertising ages of the magazines, the wills of the New York Subway and the advertising space of the street cara of the principal cities. Manufacturers who will deceive the public about the guaranty will he about the quality of their product."

He added that the law was to be administered fairly, and that no honest manufacturer need fear that the department will take "snap judgment" on him or harass him in any way.

Mr. Cabell had been ill four weeks. On March 21st he underwent a delicate sur-gical operation, and on account of his advanced age and the general weakness of his system, he was unable to recover from it.

Sketch of His Life.

Mr. Cabell was the only surviving son of George W. and Mary Ann Cabell, and was born October 17, 1837, at Inglewood, their home in Nelson county, where his family have always resided. He was the oldest grandson of Colonel Samuel Jorges Cabell, an officer of the War of the family have always resided. He was the oldest grandson of Colone! Samuel Jordan Cabell, an officer of the War of the Revolution, and fer many years member of Congress from Virginia. His maternal grandfather was Christopher Anthony, a prominent lawyer many years ago in Lynchburg, Vn. He was a collateral descendant of Patrick Heary, whose name he bore. He was educated at Emory and Henry College, in Southwest Virginia, when this college had in its faculty such distinguished men as John L. Buchanan, William E. Peters, Edmond Longley and Dr. Wiley, and received from that institution in 1859 scholarship medals in Greek and in Latin.

Mr. Cabell's first vote was cast against the secession of Virginia from the Union, but when the State seceded he was enthusiastic in support of the Southern cause.

Served Duing War.

Served Duing War.

When the Civil War broke out he was professor of Greek in Lyachburg College. He at once enlisted in the Lynchburg Rifle Grays, attached to the Eleventh Regiment, Virginia Infontry, commanded by Colonel Maurice Langhorne, of Lynchburg, and forming part of Longstreet's Corps. He took part in the first battle of Manassas, and in many of the early battles of the war; but later, by reason of ill health, contracted in the field, from which he never entirely recovered, he was transferred to the office of the Secretary of War, in Richmond, and for a time occupied a desk in this department with Thomas U. Dudley, late Episcopal Bishop of Kentucky. While in the War Department he belonged to a company composed of clerks in the Confederate departments, who drilled at night on the Capitol Square, and who were called on the Capitol Square, and who were called out in emergencies in defense of Richmond.

In one capacity or another he served the Confederacy until after the surrender of General Lee at Appomattox. His last service to the Confederacy was to transfer to the Federal authorities, after Lee's surrender, the Confederate commissary stores collected at Lynchburg.
